

Ten Years Oblivion (Stories from the Diary of a Doctor Book 8)

A married man, the father of three young children, has lost all memory of the past ten years of his life. His poor wife is beside herself. The doctor discovers the cause, which sounds a bit like a type of stroke that has affected part of his brain and thus his memory. Its a very interesting case-study for Dr. Clifford Halifax, one he was sure to record in his diary. Was he curable? Was the patients life ever normal again? What happened to his wife and children? How will the survive without him? Read this unusual true-life short story to find out these answers and others. Check out these other stories from: STORIES FROM THE DIARY OF A DOCTOR 1.
